Charles Bailey, Jr., MD, FACS, FICS

“I have dedicated my entire professional career to caring for the well-being of my patients.”

Having practiced plastic surgery in Houston since 1973, Dr. Charles Bailey, Jr. is recognized as a skilled physician and surgeon. In fact, he was named by Town & Country Magazine as one of the “Top Cosmetic Surgeons in the United States.” Dr. Bailey is board certified by the prestigious American Society of Plastic Surgeons (ASPS). Because of its high standards, ASPS is one of the most rigorous of boards to be accepted as a surgeon.

The positions and offices he has held in the medical community reflect the trust his colleagues have in him. His reputation has resulted in appointments by the state of Texas to the Texas Medical Disclosure Panel and appointments by the Supreme Court of the state of Texas to the Supreme Court Jury Task Force.

Dr. Bailey began his career in Houston in 1973. He also has taught medicine, including as Adjunct Assistant Professor of Neurobiology and Anatomy at the University of Texas Medical School at Houston.

While his experience and surgical skill have placed me among the most noted plastic surgeons in the United States, his patients remain my top priority. As the son of a physician, he learned early in his career to put the interest of his patient first while focusing on the latest trends in cosmetic surgery. This dedication and concern for his patients is the cornerstone of Dr. Bailey’s practice. Communication between surgeon and patient is essential to a successful surgical result.

He began to hone that philosophy as a medical student at the University of Texas Medical Branch in Galveston, where he earned his Doctor of Medicine in 1967. He interned at Memorial Baptist Hospital in Houston, and did his residency in the city’s Hermann Hospital under the auspices of the U.T. Medical School at Houston.
